To whom it may concern,

The person named on this certificate has had a surgical operation which makes it necessary for him/her to wear, at all times, a pouch attached to the abdomen to collect excretion from the bowel or bladder.

If it is necessary to examine this pouch, a nurse/health professional should be present because any interference may cause leakage, great discomfort and embarrassment to this person.

The pouch may be supported by a belt; if so, this may have metal parts which register on a metal detector.

The owner of this certificate may also be carrying supplies of spare pouches, scissors, surgical dressings, etc., in addition to his/her main luggage.

It is essential that these supplies remain intact and are not mislaid.
